[illegible]

Three empty ten-frames are provided for base ten blocks. Each ten-frame is a rectangle divided into ten equal vertical columns. The first ten-frame is on the left, the second is in the middle, and the third is on the right. They are intended for students to place base ten blocks to represent the numbers 100, 10, and 1 respectively.

[illegible]

A horizontal number line with arrows at both ends. It is divided into 10 equal segments by vertical tick marks. The first segment is labeled '0' at its left end, and the last segment is labeled '10' at its right end.
